

Social delegate

What is a social delegate?

A social delegate is first and foremost a member of our local union who participates in union life. His union involvement favors mutual assistance with members who encounter personal difficulties. Mutual assistance is based on listening, with a view to referring members who express a need to union, community and professional resources. The assistance available covers issues related to addictions, family, mental health, debt, bereavement and many other situations our members experience.

Do not hesitate to contact one of your two social representatives in complete confidentiality:

Jeffrey Jones et Linda Therrien